GAS ADMINISTERED.

Having removed my Dental office to the above address, I wish to thank my friends and patients for past favors, and announce to them and the public generally that I am prepared to perform all operations pertaining to Dentistry in the most approved manner, and at a share of my patients. ARTIFICIAL TEETH (full sets) $8 and up. I invite an examination of these teeth and comparison of prices.

No extra charge for local anesthetic.

J. H. BITZER, D.D.S.,
Jan 19 1893 713 Cameron street.

THE PRICE

IS IMPORTANT—

Still it is not the chief feature. Poor Dentistry is infinitely worse than none. We solicit your patronage solely on the basis of the quality of our work. That the prices are low is merely incidental and due to superior facilities and the skill which produces rapidity. Dentistry time is money, and if our experts, with every approved appliance, can do work QUICKER they can naturally do it CHEAPER than operators with less skill and poorer equipment. That they can do it with less pain follows, as a matter of course.

Extracting, 25c. with gas, $0.50.
Cleaning, Silver Filling, 75c. Gold Filling, according to size.

Fought in the Synagogue.

The story of a lively fight in a synagogue was made public in the Ewen street police court, Williamsburg, N. Y., Wednesday, when Samuel Blumenberg, of No. 69 Moore street, swore out warrants for the arrest of Simon Danto, president of the congregation Asifur Israel, the temple of which is in Varet street, near Broadway, Williamsburg, and for Aaron Schoenberg, Joseph Rosenberg and Jacob Freiberg, members of the congregation.

The accused said that Blumenberg interrupted them while they were praying in the temple on Tuesday night and attempted to drive them out. President Danto is lying dangerously ill at his home No. 1716 Fulton street, suffering from the effects of the fracas.

The trouble arose over an election in which Danto was re-elected president of the congregation. Blumenberg led the opposition. Danto and some of his friends assembled in the synagogue on Tuesday night to pray. While they were proceeding with their devotions, they say, Blumenberg entered and cried:—

"I've got you now. I'll clear you all out."

Just what followed it is hard to discover. Aaron Schoenberg was knocked senseless to the floor and President Danto ran to his assistance, but he too was thrown to the floor senseless. Rosenberg took a chair and Freiberg a foot stool, and they made a united attack on Blumenberg. They forced him into a corner and pounded him until he fell. He was not easily subdued. He dragged Rosenberg down, seized his chair and beat Freiberg on the head with it. Rosenberg, as he lay on the floor, hurled a foot stool at Blumenberg, hitting him on the neck and knocking all desire to fight out of him. Blumenberg then staggered from the synagogue. President Danto and Schoenberg were still unconscious.

The latter was soon revived. The president was placed on the altar and Dr. Loria was summoned. He worked over the man for two hours before he could restore him to consciousness. Then the president was taken home in a coach.

When I called at President Danto's house Wednesday I was told that he was critically ill and his doctor had directed that he must not be disturbed. He was suffering from concussion of the brain and was in a semi-comatose condition.

Blumenberg admits that he caught the president by the throat and spat in his face. He said:—

"I had a right to go to the synagogue, and when these men tried to put me out I resisted. They came at me with chairs, and I had to defend myself. They found that I was a match for them all."

Schoenberg, Rosenberg and Freiberg will make a counter charge against Blumenberg.—N. Y. Herald

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER.—It is not an uncommon thing to hear young men complain that their early schooling was deficient in quantity, poor in quality, or—if neither of these—was wasted through boyish indifference and folly. They would get on better in life if they knew more, they are free to admit; but they do not see that they are daily wasting opportunities which, if improved, would in a few years give them a fairly good education. They think themselves too old to learn, and spend more time regretting their lack of knowledge than would suffice to give them the knowledge they need. It is said that the father of Professor Sumner, of Yale College, could neither write nor read when he came to this country, a young mechanic. Within twenty years thereafter he was known as one of the best read men in Hartford, one of the most cultivated communities in the country. Instead of wasting his time in idle regrets for his deficient schooling, he learned to read, and read to good purpose. In a similar way many of the best, most honored and most successful men our country has known have begun their acquaintance with letters after reaching manhood; and there is no reason why the most illiterate mechanic in our land, if possessed of natural ability and a sincere purpose, may not increase his enjoyment in life, his opportunities for improving his social and financial condition, and the chances of his family for the highest success in life, by an honest effort to retrieve by study the disadvantages by which early poverty or lack of educational opportunities has surrounded him.—Scientific American.
